

EDITORIAL

Dear readers,

The editorial team of UNESCO em Revista is pleased to present the Volume 8, No. 2, 2024 issue.

As a multidisciplinary publication that believes in knowledge—in all its forms—as a path to scientific growth, this edition comprises nine articles, all of which have been peer-reviewed in accordance with the submission guidelines established on the journal's website.

To facilitate the editorial process, the editorial committee was composed of: Daniele S. Cherubino Simões, librarian and master's student (CRB-746/ES), currently pursuing a Master's in Education at the Federal University of Espírito Santo; specialist in Philosophy and Psychoanalysis for Teacher Education and in Educational Informatics, both from the Federal University and the Federal Institute of Espírito Santo, respectively; holds a Bachelor's degree in Library Science from the Federal University of Espírito Santo. Geraldo Magela Freitas dos Santos, Master in Educational Management from the Salesian Polytechnic University (Quito, Ecuador); postgraduate in School Supervision; Bachelor's degree in Pedagogy. Tatiani Bellettini-Santos, PhD in Health Sciences and Master's in Education, both from UNESCO/SC; Bachelor's degree in Biological Sciences (Licentiate) from the University of the Extreme South of Santa Catarina (UNESC). Clairton Marcolongo-Pereira, PhD and Master in Animal Health from the Federal University of Pelotas; Medical Residency in Veterinary Medicine from the University of Vila Velha; degrees in Administration from FAESA and in Veterinary Medicine from the University of Vila Velha.

We express our sincere gratitude to all the authors who believed in our journal and submitted their work for publication, to the reviewers for their time and dedication, and to the editorial team of UNESCO em Revista, who strive to advance educational and scientific development.

May education be the beacon that lights the path for all who seek knowledge.
Reflection...

"Intelligence is the only means we have to master our instincts".

Sigmund Freud